A community is brought together by cooperation.

Sharing time and experiences.

For this we do not want to give them a building,
but the idea of it.

Using the imagination, the community will shape it as needed working together.

Simple structure elements made with local materials are provided.

It is then up to them to use its full potential:
the inside as shelter for two, classroom for some,
or gathering place for many; and the outside as climbing wall to play, relaxed meeting point or bleachers to watch the football game.

The lightness of the structure makes moving and rotating the elements possible. The unity and the curiosity of people will do the rest.
